

CODE OF ETHICS - SLACKLINE VALAIS

Core principles : Mutual support, Safety, Fun

As a member of Slackline Valais, I pledge to respect the following points while practising :

1. Mutual support and community

- Solidarity : Show tolerance and inclusiveness towards all members and users.
- Assistance : Provide assistance to anyone in difficulty and report any abusive behaviour.
- Transmission : Sharing and receiving knowledge with humility.

2. Safety and insurance

- Responsibility : Practise at your own risk.
- Insurance cover : You must have accident insurance and third-party liability insurance.
- Health : You must not have any medical conditions that would prevent you from practising slacklining.

3. Respect for the environment and public spaces

- Trees : Select only healthy trees. Ensure that the diameter at the anchor point is at least 30 cm. Always use appropriate tree protections.
- Street furniture : Focus on natural or dedicated anchor points and avoid using unsuitable street furniture.

- Users: Ensure that passageways are not blocked; keep a constant watch over the setups and respond politely to other users of the premises/members of the public.

4. Gear and setups

- Compliance : Only use equipment that is certified for slacklining, well maintained and regularly checked.
- Skills: Act according to what you know : if you don't know, you don't do it!
- Security measures: Always install back-up systems and mark them out if necessary.

5. Sustainability of the practise

- I do it foremost for the enjoyment of myself and others.
- Regardless of whether I am a learner or a trainer, I respect the principle of leading by example.
- As much as possible, I help create a healthy and sustainable environment for my sport.
